

Heavy Losses To Reds' Drive Across The Ice

Battle For Capes At Viipuri Bay Is Still Being Waged

HELSINKI, March 7.—(P)—Soviet Russian troops seeking to drive across the ice of the Bay of Viipuri to tighten a ring of steel on the seaport of Viipuri suffered heavy losses under the fire of the Finns.

The Finnish high command reported today.

More than 30 Russian tanks were destroyed on the ice, the high command said in a communique which stated the invaders "attacked fiercely" all day yesterday on the northwest of the bay.

"The battle for possession of the capes at the mouth of the bay and islands off its northwestern shore continues," it said.

Elsewhere on the strategic Karelian Isthmus front attacks were repulsed, the army reported, but on the eastern front, it acknowledged a Russian success in the seizure of a "few islands" a short distance off shore of the northeastern part of Lake Ladoga.

Finland meanwhile sought to strengthen her army by calling up the class of 1920—mostly youths 19—and all men of other classes scheduled for re-examination this year or in succeeding years.

Strong Defense Evident

Troops on land, the Finnish air force, the navy and coastal defenses all were used in actions against Russians attempting to cross the ice not only in the Bay of Viipuri but to the west in the Gulf of Finland.

One such attempt which the Finns repulsed, the communique said, took place on Haapasaari Islands, more than 60 miles southwest of Viipuri.

The Finnish air force was particularly active in punishing shelterless Russians on the stretches of ice, the high command saying:

"Our aircraft carried out reconnaissance flights and bombed and machine-gunned enemy units and columns observed on the ice of Viipuri Bay and the Gulf of Finland."

Russians meanwhile were active in adjacent areas and in Northern Finland. One Russian bomber was shot down during the day, the army announced.

The men called up today for duty included men who previously had been rejected for reasons of health.

Economy Urge On State Agencies

JEFFERSON CITY, March 7.—(P)—Department and institutions under Gov. Lloyd C. Stark have been ordered to defer all expenditures except current operation costs in an effort to help the state squeeze through its tightest financial pinch in years.

An authoritative source said today the executive departments had been requested to meet the expenses of current operations out of revenue from funds and fees, rather than dipping into the hard-pressed general revenue fund.

This source said he understood the co-operation of officials of state schools and institutions had been asked.

The state had $800,000 in accumulated unpaid bills today. There was only about $120,000 in the general revenue fund and aid to dependent children payments next week will just about wipe that away.

A seasonal drop in tax income has caused the hard times. Tax experts said the financial situation should level off by mid-July when the bulk of income tax and foreign insurance premium revenue will come in. Meanwhile, however, it appeared payment of some of the current operations expenses would be delayed two or three months.

Most officials said the state government probably could clear the year in balance. Financial woes since the beginning of 1940 have come largely from a lack of revenue which is almost certain to come in eventually.

MFA Holds Dinner Meeting

A banquet meeting of managers in the Sedalia territory of the Missouri Farmers Association was held Wednesday night at the St. Francis hotel. Over 100 attended.

The following persons gave talks after the banquet: Frank Farnham, manager of the M. F. A. purchasing department of Kansas City; R. J. Rosier, state secretary; Jack Silvey, assistant state secretary; James Vaughan, assistant manager of the M. F. A. Grain and Feed company of Kansas City; Ray Ballew, field man for the purchasing department of Kansas City and Pat Waters of the Washburn-Crosby Milling company of Kansas City.

Senator Truman Here In April

Senator Harry S. Truman, scheduled to address the Young Democratic club here on March 12, cannot come on that date, and will now be here some time in April. This was made known Tuesday when a letter was received from the senator, stating he would have to cancel the twelfth date because of an engagement that must be fulfilled. He suggested the 26th, but Attorney-General Roy McKitt-trick is to be here on that date, so the Truman date was not set. However, in a telephone conversation with Kenneth Johnson, of the Young Democratic club, the arrangements were tentatively made for April.

Tree Planting Project In City Soon Complete

Over Thousand Set Out On Broadway And In Parks

The transplanting of over 1,000 trees along Broadway and in Liberty and Hubbard parks is near completion, it was learned from those in charge of this WPA project.

For the most part the trees are replacing soft maples that were killed or damaged by sleet storms and droughts of recent years.

Work has progressed east along Broadway from Barret avenue to Engineer avenue, and will be completed to Marshall avenue by March 19, the closing date of the project.

Sap Goes Up

During March the sap starts to go up in the trees and they cannot be dug up then because they will die if disturbed when the roots are demanding moisture.

Work, therefore, was started during the winter.

There is a row of American elms, three to six inches in diameter, along each side of Broadway, planted 26 feet in from the curbing to allow for a possible widening of the roadway in the future. An average of twenty trees are set in each block, ten on each side.

American elms were chosen for Sedalia's main boulevard because they are sturdier than the maple and are not as easily killed by droughts, it was said. They also provide much shade.

The work is being done with about 45 WPA men working with only hand labor, under the supervision of Philip Pfeiffer, superintendent, who selects the trees to be transplanted.

Herrmann Drew Plans

Plans for the project were drawn up by Elmer Herrmann, city engineer, and were approved by the United States Department of Agriculture.

At Liberty park, elms will be placed on the inside of the hedge that runs parallel to Third street and will replace soft maples that have been taken out.

Along the road from the entrance to the concession stand near Convention hall, elms are being planted on both sides and also along the walk leading to the hall.

Pin Oak And Ash

A large group of pin oak and ash will be transplanted near the park entrance for shade and convenience of picnickers.

The island and grounds around the park lagoon will have weeping willows, scallibark birch and hackberry for scenery. One large hackberry with an unusual formation of three trunks has been planted near the south side, where it can be seen from the roadway.

Along Park avenue and the north side of the lagoon there will be rows of hackberries.

For those who are interested in nature study, about 20 varieties of native Missouri trees will be placed near the former location of the monkey cages.

About 25 elm trees are being planted at Hubbard park. They are placed in convenient places to provide shade and scenery.

From Nearby Farms

The trees, taken from farms surrounding Sedalia, are carefully handled while they are being dug up. Burlap is placed around the roots to hold in some of the soil around the smaller roots and prevent them from breaking off, which may kill the tree.

After transplanting they are watered immediately and otherwise cared for. Trees that die will be replaced, according to Herrmann.

The soft maples along Broadway were planted 55 or 60 years ago and are now dying as a result of storms and droughts in recent years, the city engineer said.

Burns To Death In An Explosion

KANSAS CITY, March 7.—(P)—Erwin Springer, 65 year old night watchman, burned to death as an explosion and fire destroyed the Gordon Chemical plant and Orschlein Bros truck lines depot early today.

Cause of the explosion, in the chemical plant, was not known. Firemen did not estimate the damage.

Queen Of Seas Runs Gauntlet To U.S. Shore

Bold Dash Over Atlantic Made By Giant Liner

NEW YORK, March 7.—(P)—Britain's new 85,000-ton liner Queen Elizabeth, completing one of the strangest maiden voyages in maritime history after running the U-boat gauntlet, dropped anchor in the safety of New York harbor today with no visible guns on deck but protected by a mysterious new anti-mine cable.

Observers were at a loss to understand how the cable operated, since it surrounded the ship high above the water—with no apparent drop-net into the water for a sweep effect.

A member of the crew added to the mystery, when, asked if he had been afraid of submarines, shouted back with a laugh to newsmen in a tugboat alongside: "No, they keep away from us!"

The British tar who acted as a long-distance spokesman for the dozen odd crew members visible on deck or at open portholes said it had been a "very nice trip—lovely."

John Barlow, assistant marine superintendent of the Cunard White Star lines in New York, one of the three persons permitted aboard the Queen Elizabeth at quarantine, said that the liner brought only a skeleton crew of between 300 and 400 men and that it was "very nearly finished."

NEW YORK, March 7.—(P)—With the "Red Duster" Union Jack flying at her mast, Britain's new $28,750,000 liner Queen Elizabeth—the largest, fastest ship afloat—arrived within the safety of New York harbor waters today at the end of her bold dash 3,000 miles across the Atlantic.

Painted a drab gray, the 85,000-ton liner passed Ambrose lightship shortly after 8 a. m. (CST) and headed toward the Narrows, past winter-deserted Coney Island with the skyline of New York 20 miles distant.

The bluish-gray coat of the vessel, unrelieved by a single note of color, blended into the haze over the harbor. She looked like a ghost ship as she reached quarantine and dropped anchor.

Neutrality For The Rumanians

MUCHAREST, March 7.—(P)—King Carol II opened Parliament today with a declaration that all the resources of Rumania would be thrown behind her army as a "supreme guarantee of our independence and of the integrity of our borders."

Disclosing that taxes would be materially increased to bear the cost of keeping 1,600,000 men under arms, the monarch said: "I am sure my people will accept such sacrifices for the sake of the country and peace."

Strict neutrality, he declared, will be continued even in the fields of foreign commerce "in order to assure the essential flow of supplies to our army and our people."

Carol's statement was approved in a long session of the crown council last night amid signs of an even sharper struggle between Germany and the British-French allies for Rumania's favor in exports of raw materials.

Carol appeared in the uniform of the Royal Guard with Crown Prince Mihai at his side in the garb of an infantry lieutenant.

Trio Guilty Of Chicken Theft

Lloyd Stevens, Lloyd Reed and Clyde Burnett, all of Sedalia, who were arrested for stealing chickens in the daytime, appeared before Judge J. C. Connor, justice of the peace, and were sentenced to four months in the county jail, plus costs in the case. The trio pleaded guilty.

The trio were arrested several weeks ago for stealing chickens from the farm of Riley Lee near Beaman. They took a change of venue from the court of Justice of the Peace T. A. Moore at Beaman, bringing their case to the Sedalia Justice of the Peace.

Bothwell Hospital Notes

Mrs. Lloyd Parsons, Warsaw; Verdeen Weymuth, Cole Camp; Glenford Cooper, Beaman; Dan McKinzie of Warsaw, were all brought to Sedalia and to the hospital for surgical treatment.

Mrs. Harry Wagner, 1617 West Third street, underwent an operation this morning. Her condition is satisfactory this afternoon.

Robert Marker, of Warrensburg, aged 4, was admitted for treatment.

Mrs. G. C. Graham, of 322 West Fifth street, who is suffering with a broken right ankle, is getting along nicely.

Offers Free Site For Building Labor Board

Jefferson City Lot Tendered For Offices Of Commission

JEFFERSON CITY, March 7.—Frank H. Wymore of Los Angeles, Calif., formerly head of the firm of Walther & Wymore here, Wednesday offered a lot on Bolivar street to the city for the Unemployment Compensation commission building.

The offer was made to the city through Prosecuting Attorney Carl F. Wymore.

The lot is in the 400 block on the west side of Bolivar street almost directly opposite WPA headquarters.

Second Site Offered

It is the second site to be offered the bi-partisan advisory board since the adoption of the bonds. Otto C. Botz offered a site on Swift's highway several days ago.

Wymore's letter to Hugh Stephens is as follows:

"My parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Wymore, former residents of Jefferson City, now residing in Los Angeles, California, have authorized me to offer to the City of Jefferson, in their behalf, a certain lot, to be deeded in fee simple, free of any charges, on the condition that the same be used as a site for the proposed office building to house the Unemployment Compensation Commission."

"The lot in question is on the east side of Bolivar street, in the 400 block and is approximately 100 feet wide and 104½ feet deep."

"This letter confirms the oral offer of the same made to you and certain members of the committee on the 22nd and 26th days of February, 1940."

"Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Wymore are motivated by their desire to try to be of some assistance to Jefferson City in our battle to keep the commission here."

"I am hopeful that their offer may be helpful and prove to be a definite aid to Jefferson City."

Stephens will submit the offer to the twenty member board. The compensation commission will have the final say as to the matter of the location of the building, Mr. Stephens pointed out.

Slashing Contest By Two Negroes

Lester Yancey and Garfield Mulkey, negroes, held a slashing contest on the stairway of the Missouri Pacific depot about 11:15 o'clock this morning. Yancey received a long cut on his left leg while Mulkey took a slash under the left arm.

Police officers Herman Fisher and Lawrence Englund questioned the two and each blamed the other. It was said Yancey had lost his job at a local grocery store and Mulkey had replaced him.

Yancey told a story that Mulkey had made some unkind remarks about him not working "there anymore" which was resented by Yancey. Yancey offered to settle the argument outside and the two met in front of the depot. Mulkey is said to have made a quick departure taking to the stairway with Mulkey overtaking him there.

Knives flashed; the two were cut; police were called, and the combatants were taken to the hospital for treatment. No arrests necessary.

Ask Three Man Labor Board

Changes In The Wagner Labor Act Are Suggested

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(P)—Prompt creation of a new three man labor board to act "merely as a judge" in collective bargaining disputes topped a list of 17 amendments to the Wagner Act recommended to congress today by a special house committee.

Freedom also for an employer "to discuss labor situations with his workers" within limitations was included in the changes proposed by Chairman Smith (D-Va.) of an investigating committee.

The committee majority advocated that the present board, headed by J. Warren Madden, be tossed out of office at this session.

Smith said his amendments represented "imperative things that need immediate attention." Aligned with him were representatives Halleck (R-Ind) and Routhon (R-Ohio).

The minority, Representatives Healey (D-Mass) and Murdock (D-Utah), protested against the amendments as "emasculatory" and threatening to "the principles, purposes and objectives of the act."

Healey and Murdock said the changes "propose to sacrifice vital rights of labor."

In proposing to separate judicial and prosecuting functions, the majority suggested that an administrator, to be appointed by the president and to have no connection with the board, should prosecute complaints against employers.

This amendment apparently was based on charges that in some cases the board had acted as judge, jury and prosecutor.

One amendment would forbid the payroll reinstatement of any employee who had engaged in will-

Liberal Snow In This Section

It was somewhat of a surprise in Sedalia and Pettis county to awaken this morning and find the ground covered with snow, as the rain, which began falling Wednesday night, had turned to snow during the early morning hours.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon four inches of snow had fallen and it was still snowing heavily. The snowfall measured .96 of an inch of moisture.

For the farmer the snow has its advantages and disadvantages. There is not sufficient moisture in the ground for the spring and summer crops, and as moisture it will delay the oats sowing. Missions prefer to sow oats in March, as April is a little late. It is possible that the snow will not be sufficient to soak the ground and keep it damp for a long time, but instead it will dry out quickly and the oat planting will be done as usual.

Few sections of the state escaped the wintry touch, but fair weather with rising temperatures forecast for tomorrow is expected to bring an early return of spring conditions.

The snowfall was the heaviest between Springfield and Sedalia, with Clinton reporting the four inches. Highways are wet but not hazardous.

Hatch Expects Pigeon-Holing Expansion Bill

Maneuver Would Tie It Up For Rest Of Present Session

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(P)—Senator Hatch (D-NM), author of legislation to broaden the anti-politics law which bears his name, conceded today that "there is a good chance" the expansion bill might be pigeonholed for this session.

Opponents of the broadening proposal, by which Hatch would extend to state employees drawing some federal pay the prohibitions against political activity now imposed on federal employees, claimed that they had a 50-50 chance of returning it to the elections committee for "further study."

Such a maneuver, if successful, would tie up the legislation in committee for the rest of the session.

Before considering this crucial motion, however, the senate reconsidered and by a record vote reversed its standing vote of yesterday on an amendment by Senator Danaher (R-Conn) to give state-federal employees accused of illegal political activity the right of direct appeal to the federal courts. The vote in favor of granting this right was 48 to 36.

Would Modify Legislation

The Danaher amendment would not affect the Hatch anti-politics law already on the books but would modify the broadening legislation.

Proponents of the Danaher amendment demanded a record vote be taken today after the rejection was effected yesterday by a standing vote.

Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) told his colleagues that appeals would involve endless delay in administration of the law and would cost thousands of dollars.

He argued also that if they were to be granted to state-federal workers, then they also should be granted to all federal employees.

Senator Downey (D-Calif) said he thought that the appeal pro-

Talk On Oil To Kiwanians

The where, what and why of new activity in the Illinois oil basin was explained by H. K. O'Gara, of the Speakers' Bureau of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce oil bureau, before the Sedalia Kiwanis club meeting in Bothwell hotel this noon.

Mr. O'Gara told of the oil boom in the Salem, Ill., area and predicted that sooner or later there would be oil discoveries in Missouri. In such an event he cautioned his listeners to "make haste slowly," in putting money behind the ventures.

The speaker was introduced by L. W. Satorius, program chairman. Ben Robinson, chairman of the attendance committee, reported that the club so far had three 100 per cent meetings since entering the contest with Rotary. Two more meetings remain before the close of the contest.

Club guests were: C. W. Withrow, of Tarkio, Mo.; Kiwanian C. J. Perkins, Lawrence, Kans., and Rotarian E. G. Kennedy.

President Paul Hedderich announced there would be a meeting of the board of directors at Kueck's Friday noon.

Two Are Held In Burglary Case

J. B. Greer and Claude Greer, brothers, are in the county jail charged with burglary and larceny of the Herrick Recreation parlor at Second street and Ohio avenue. The two, according to the information, broke into the place of business on or about February 7.

At the time the place was broken into some cigarettes, cigars and a small amount of change was taken.

They are to appear before Judge C. W. Bente, sitting as ex-officio justice of the peace. The date for the hearing has not been set.

Woman Found Beaten To Death

COLUMBUS, O., March 7.—(P)—Nude except for one blood-spattered stocking and a shoe, Miss Alice Lautherbach, 76, was found slain today, victim of a sex-mad robber who stole the tiny savings she had accumulated from a monthly old age pension.

After beating the frail woman the slayer criminally assaulted her, Coroner Edward E. Smith reported.

Miss Lautherbach, who lived alone, was beaten three years ago by a robber, who overlooked $50 in a metal box. Beside the woman's body today was the empty box. Detective Sgt. C. C. Cole said there was no indication how much loot was obtained.

Divorce Decree Is Granted To Mrs. Roosevelt

Wife of James Roosevelt Awarded It By Court

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—Betsey Cushing Roosevelt today was granted a divorce from James Roosevelt, son of the president. Mrs. Roosevelt was granted an interlocutory decree by Superior Judge Thomas C. Gould.

In issuing the decree, Judge Gould said that he had examined the terms of a property settlement, found them satisfactory and that the settlement would be included as part of the decree.

Finns Call Up Class Of 1920

HELSINKI, March 7.—(P)—The Finnish government today called up the military class of 1920—mostly youths of 19—and all men of other classes scheduled for re-examination this year or in succeeding years.

Most of the second group previously had been rejected for reasons of health.

The new call to the colors came while the vanguard of the Russian besiegers of Viipuri still were in virtually the same positions they occupied almost a week ago outside the key Karelian Isthmus city.

Military observers expressed belief that the final Red army assault on the depopulated and devastated city was being delayed by failures of Soviet attacks on Finnish lines east and southwest of Viipuri.

Unless the Russians can break through these lines and flank the defenders, these sources said, invading troops entering the city would be in a pocket with Finns on the east, west and north.

This was believed to account for heavy Russian attacks across the ice of Viipuri bay and against Finnish positions defending approaches from the east.

Finland sources denied reports abroad that Field Marshal Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim, Finland's commander-in-chief, was ill.

Dewey Offers 8-Point Program

LINCOLN, Neb., March 7.—(P)—Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney and candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, offered today a "partial" eight-point program for achieving agricultural prosperity.

Principal speaker at a Nebraska Republican Founders' Day meeting last night Dewey asserted the New Deal has not "scratched the surface" of the farm problem, then disclosed his own "partial" eight-point agricultural program. It would:

1. Establish a fair parity between agricultural and industrial prices.
2. Provide government crop insurance at reasonable levels.
3. Adopt a direct program of soil conservation.
4. Convert sub-marginal land to more economical uses.
5. Extend the farm co-operative movement.
6. Continue and extend the program for marketing agreements.
7. Preserve the American market for American agriculture.
8. Broaden research in the use of agricultural products.

Doubt Success Will Crown Present Efforts

STOCKHOLM, March 7.—Sweden is seeking to arrange an armistice in the Russian-Finnish war, usually reliable sources said today, adding that Russian peace terms recently had been presented to Finland.

The exact nature of the terms is still the subject of speculation, but there were unconfirmed reports that Russia demanded surrender of the Karelian Isthmus, Viipuri, Lake Ladoga and part of the far northern Petsamo area.

An armistice, it was said, would be followed by further efforts to arrange a peace settlement.

Official Swedish circles said they could neither deny or confirm reports that Sweden had submitted peace terms from Joseph Stalin to the Helsinki government.

One theory was that negotiations thus far had proceeded through the minister here, Elias Erkkio, who is former Finnish foreign minister, and the Swedish foreign office.

Significance also was seen in reports that Dr. Juho Paasikivi, Finnish diplomat, is in Stockholm. He headed the Finnish delegation in unsuccessful pre-war negotiations at Moscow on Russian territorial demands which Finland found a threat to her independence.

If peace negotiations actually are under way, Scandinavian political quarters assume that Berlin also is interested.

There are unconfirmed reports even that the German minister to Finland, Dr. Wipert von Blumcher, has conferred in Helsinki with a representative of the Finnish generalissimo, Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim, and Finnish government officials.

Stalin Wants Isthmus

According to the current reports, Stalin has called for surrender of the Karelian Isthmus to Russia, along with the city of Viipuri, all of Lake Ladoga, and some territory in the Petsamo district on the Arctic coast.

Sweden's interest in any peace negotiations is believed to have been prompted by the increasingly difficult position of this country in view of her stated policy as regards passage of foreign aid to Finland and new reports that Finland is considering an appeal directly to the clined the last three months of the year because of poor pastureage.

Today's Pattern

PATTERN 8652

Spring-Like Apron Frock

Brighten up your daily life with several fresh morning frocks like this (8652)—it will cheer you up decidedly, with saucy frills at the sleeves and on the collar, and has a perfectly charming princess line, stressed by side sashes that tie in a big bow at the back. Of course, as you well know, the beltless princess line is particularly practical for housework, as well as flattering to the figure. Dale Carnegie, Who Appears Here On Tuesday, To Write Two More Books

Dale Carnegie, who speaks in Sedalia, Tuesday, March 12, contemplates writing two more books in the near future. One will be an entirely new edition of his "Public Speaking and Influencing Men in Business." Carnegie says that each month he learns something new in the field of public speaking. Because of this fact, in his classes he is constantly replacing old methods with new ones. The forthcoming text in public speaking will incorporate these new methods which have been tested and proved effective in Mr. Carnegie's own institute.

slack tide, the Queen Elizabeth was to remain at Quarantine until about 2 p. m., to await a tide permitting her to tie up at pier 90 at the foot of 50th street.

Unidentified escort vessels, seen with her farther out, were dropped somewhere in the lower bay and the queen of the seas moved up the harbor alone—in solitary majesty.

Welcome Salutes

The first welcoming salutes came from a salvage and a press tug. The Queen Elizabeth responded with a throaty roar from her whistle and ran up the yellow quarantine flag.

No guns were evident. Her life boats, of which she did not carry a complete complement, were uncovered. Members of the crew and a number of stewards, their white jackets emphasized against the dull background, waved from the rails.

As she reached quarantine several planes, including a police amphibian, soared overhead and numerous harbor craft circled around the vessel which rode high in the water.

A war-time fugitive, fleeing the dangers of German bombing assaults in her Clyde river berth in Scotland, the Queen Elizabeth successfully evaded the threat of German undersea attack and triumphed in its risk of a mortal blow against British claims of supremacy of the sea.

Planes Sighted Vessel

Planes flying out of New York first sighted the queen "looking like a dirty gray whale" off Fire Island, cutting up a mile-long wake as her giant engines turned up apparently close to her top speed of more than 32 knots.

Below the water-line, the ship showed dark red and along the water line there were patches of black under the gray paint, indicating her "war paint" had been hastily applied for the audacious voyage to this country.

Preparations were made to greet the Queen Elizabeth at her new berth at Pier 90, at the foot of West 50th street, where two dredges have recently been deepening the north side of the slip for her huge bulk.

The newcomer will lie snugly in a $113,750,000 maritime "Klondike" on the New York waterfront, by the side of the $60,000,000 French liner Normandie and the Queen Elizabeth's sister ship, the $25,000,000 Queen Mary.

Newsmen Held Back

A police detail of 250 men was stationed in the pier vicinity, and not even newsmen or photographers were allowed to enter the pier shed. In completing her strange maiden voyage, the Queen Elizabeth wrote a new chapter in wartime drama.

For the voyage of this largest potential target for an enemy warship was:

1. Made without an alarm, and
2. Not disclosed until late yesterday.

"Thousands of Clydeside people knew the Elizabeth had left her berth nine days ago," exulted the authoritative British press association in London, "and the Scottish and national press of Great Britain knew it. Yet the secret was kept."

The secret was kept until the new queen of the seas, christened months ago by the reigning British queen in her own name, was safely within the American neutrality zone.

The new queen moves in and overshadows in size and potential splendor the idling British liner Queen Mary and the French liner Normandie and Ile de France, all laid up "for the duration" at the outset of the war six months ago.

"Her arrival in New York," the British Press Association said of the Queen Elizabeth, "gives Adolf Hitler and Admiral Raeder, chief of the Nazi sea terror campaign, a startling shock in view of the Nazi claim to 'control of the oceans'."

When her inside fittings are completed she will be the finest as well as the largest ship afloat. Harbor sources speculated that she would remain in her unfinished stage, to be readily convertible to any special uses as Britain's needs arose.

Britishers waxed warm over their tight-lipped secrecy that sped the queen on her silent way, in the tacit observation of their motto—"Careless talk costs lives."

Ask Three Man Labor Board

ful violence during a labor disturbance.

Changes Proposed

The suggested changes would:

1. Abolish the present board and create a new one of three members, with not more than two belonging to the same political party.

2. Separate the prosecuting and judicial functions of the board and create a new office of administrator to handle many of the board's present functions.

3. Permit the board to function only as a judge, with the exception that it would continue to have the power to order a collective bargaining election.

4. Make mandatory the issuance of subpoenas for appearances at hearings upon request of an employer, worker or union.

5. Permit court review of board decisions in representation cases.

6. Forbid the board to initiate determination of collective bargaining units; only the employer or employees could request that action.

7. Once an election is held, forbid other elections in the same plant for one year.

8. Relax present prohibitions, to permit an employer to discuss labor situations with his workers, providing that discussion did not involve acts or threats of coercion, intimidation or discrimination.

9. Apply the usual court rules of evidence to all board procedure.

10. Provide that, in court review of any board decision, the board's findings would be conclusive if based on a preponderance of evidence and unless they were "clearly erroneous."

11. Revise the declaration of policy in the Wagner Act so that the board would not be encouraged to "unionize" employees against their will.

12. Forbid the board to reinstate any worker who willfully engaged in violence or unlawful destruction or seizure of property.

13. Revise the definition of the phrase "bargain collectively" so that neither an employer nor a union would be compelled to reach an agreement or make counter proposals.

14. Provide that the intermediate report of a trial examiner become final, without any further board action, unless one of the parties to the proceeding took exceptions to it in 20 days.

15. Exclude employees of farm cooperatives from the act's application.

16. Forbid the board to entertain any charge of a violation of the Wagner Act more than six months after the violation occurred and decree that back pay could not be awarded to any worker for more than a six-month period.

17. Abolish the economics division, presently headed by David Sapos.

The amendments go immediately to the house labor committee, under the terms of the resolution which launched the Smith investigation.

Should the labor committee fail to act quickly on them, Smith has indicated that he would seek to bring the amendments to the house floor by petition of a majority of the house.

Labor committee action was considered in informed quarters to be highly speculative. There is considerable sentiment among one group in that committee against any changes in the Wagner act this session, while another group has been clamoring for amendments.

The Smith inquiry was ordered after a large group of house members declared that the labor committee had been dilatory in considering proposed changes in the law. A dozen or more sets of amendments have been before the committee since early last year, including one batch from the AFL. Recently, the CIO offered proposals differing widely from the federation's.

Hatch Expects Pigeon Hiding Expansion Bill positional would serve as "a strong check" against arbitrary decisions by the civil service commission, administrative body for the Hatch act.

California law, Downey said, provided for appeals to the courts from decisions of the state civil service commission. He said that in handling many such appeals as an attorney he had never observed any of the difficulties Norris outlined.

Danaher contended that unless checked, the civil service commission would have the power to "thwart the will of congress" by ordering loans or grants withheld from state agencies as a means of enforcing the anti-politics law.

He said he thought there should be a check on his power through court appeals.

Norris replied that he believed the commission was as well qualified as a court to determine whether there had been a violation of the act.

Opponents of the legislation broadening the Hatch act failed by only a narrow margin late yesterday to put across an amendment by Senator Miller (D-Ark) which would have wiped out some existing restrictions against "voluntary" political activity by federal employees.

Democratic ranks were split by the 44-41 vote, even after senate leader Barkley (D-Ky) argued that an affirmative vote would hurt his party's chances in the November election.

Barkley said the tally clearly indicated approval today for the legislation by Senator Hatch (D-NM) extending the ban on political activity to about 250,000 state workers paid in part by federal funds.

The opponents, headed by Senators Minton (D-Ind) and Lucas (D-III), decided to ask first that the Hatch legislation be returned to the elections committee "for further study." If carried, the motion would kill the proposal for this session.

"There is a pretty general feeling that this bill was hastily considered and poorly drafted," Minton declared. "It has a lot of extremely bad features."

Claim One Nazi Plane Downed

LONDON, March 7.—(AP)—Two German warplanes fought with British pursuit planes off the east coast of England tonight. Onlookers saw one raider almost collide with a British plane as the fight in the clouds began.

In a few minutes a second raider with two British fighters in pursuit appeared. Then came three more British planes and the two Germans "were driven out to sea," the onlookers said.

The Royal Air Force in a day of brisk activity at home and abroad today shot down a German air raider off Scotland, announced the successful scouting of strategic German bases and cities during the night and went to the House of Commons for more money.

How much money is to be spent is a war secret—hidden behind a £100 ($400) "token" appropriation—but Sir Kingsley Wood, the air minister, said it involved "the greatest expenditure" of the kind in British history.

The house, having disposed of the Palestine problem at least temporarily by voting 292 to 129 in favor of restricting Jewish land purchases, turned to her Sir Kingsley recount the feats of his air force as an independent branch of the armed services.

Sweden Anxious For Armistice By Reds And Finns

As for Germany, it has become the popular view that the Reich would be ready to intervene as soon as Russia gained some outstanding military success in Finland.

Reported conversations in Berlin between the noted Swedish explorer Sven Hedin and Adolf Hitler and his foreign minister, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, are regarded by many observers as directly associated with the supposed German-Swedish interest in seeing the war in Finland settled.

Doubt Success In Bid

Doubt was expressed in some informed circles, however, whether any mediation bid from a Scandinavian country had a reasonable chance of success.

These sources believed the Kremlin to have become embittered over admitted Scandinavian sympathies for Finland to such a point that a mediator's role would be difficult.

The Finnish attitude toward negotiations was regarded as questionable, depending on the Finns' opinion of their chances of continuing their defense.

It was pointed out that the Finns have expressed a consistent willingness to negotiate provided they can do so with honor and full recognition of their national integrity.

Official sources declined to discuss reports that Germany had warned Sweden that transit of volunteers for Finland would be regarded as unneutral.

The impression therefore prevails here that Sweden is striving for a peaceful solution of the war in Finland before arrival of foreign volunteers for the Finnish cause further complicated Sweden's own status.

Doubt Peace Terms Offered

BERLIN, March 7.—(AP)—Authorized German sources said today that Germany never had left any doubt that it regarded passage of volunteers through Sweden to Finland as a hostile act—not against Germany but against the principle of neutrality.

They expressed doubt of the authenticity of reports that peace terms had been transmitted from Soviet Russia to Finland.

HELSINKI, March 7.—(AP)—The official Finnish press bureau tonight declared it believed Russia planned presentation of territorial demands "more far reaching in character" than those rejected by Finland prior to the present war.

A statement to that effect was issued by the bureau as Stockholm reports said that Sweden was making a new effort to halt the war with an armistice.

Reliable sources in the Swedish capital said Russia's demands already had been made known to Finnish officials.

The Finnish press bureau statement declared:

"According to information in possession of the Finnish government, the Soviet government is believed to have planned presentation of demands to Finland more far-reaching in character than those presented last Autumn."

"Details, however, of these demands are lacking so far."

Specialties In Stocks Rally

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP)—Specialties took over the rallying play for the stock market today while many of yesterday's speedy leaders rested.

The direction was moderately upward at the start with dealings active. Profit taking on Wednesday's bulge, however, soon stemmed the advance and slightly mixed prices predominated thereafter. The pace slowed after the opening and transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

Despite the obvious desire of some traders to cash in on the theory the market was hardly ready yet for any sustained push, selling was well absorbed throughout with weakness rare in virtually all departments.

Arrest Suspect In An Attempt Of Extortion

Intended Victim Was Head Of Steel Tank Company

KANSAS CITY, March 7.—(AP)—An attempt to extort $15,000 from A. A. Kramer, president of the Columbian Steel Tank Company, was disclosed today by postal inspectors following the arrest of a man at Irving, Kas.

He gave his name as John K. Hawkes and said he owned a gold mine near Kaycee, Wyo. He said he is 52 years old.

The federal agents followed a dummy package through several post offices in their search for the writer of six extortion letters to Kramer. The first letter was received February 6 and the others followed in a few days. The first demanded that $10,000 be sent by mail to "A. M. Krane, Goodland, Kansas." Later the demand was increased to $15,000.

Letters Given Inspector

The letter writer threatened to "expose" Kramer "to the government for non-payment of income taxes." Kramer promptly turned the letters over to Emmett O. Hallock, chief postal inspector here.

Each was typewritten but Kramer received only carbon copies. Copies also were sent to his sons, J. M. and William, and other copies went to Mrs. J. M. Kramer.

Inspectors L. P. Love and O. D. Middleton mailed a dummy package to Goodland and started following it. At Goodland, they found the man had asked a waitress to place a forwarding address for him at the postoffice to send his mail to Horton, Kas. To Horton went the package and the agents. There another waitress had been asked to place a forwarding address to Seneca, Kas.

At Seneca the same thing had happened with his forwarding address Beatrice, Neb. At Beatrice another waitress had been used to have "Kramer's" mail forwarded to Irving, Kas. At no time did the federal agents find the man's handwriting. In his pleas to the waitresses he said he had a crippled arm and couldn't write.

At Irving there was no forwarding address for "Kramer," and the inspectors waited. Eventually a man called for "Kramer's" mail. They arrested him and brought him to Kansas City today.

Would Check On 'Gifts' To Murray

KANSAS CITY, March 7.—(AP)—Scott Wilson, former state highway commission chairman, testified in federal court today that Matthew S. Murray successfully solicited two large highway jobs for a Pendergast machine construction company in 1933.

The government called Wilson to testify in an effort to show $49,800 Murray, former state WPA administrator, received from Boss Tom Pendergast and John J. Pryor, the machine's favored contractor, were not "gifts." Murray is on trial for evading federal income taxes on $69,691.

Contracts for the two jobs went to the Boyle-Pryor Construction company and Wilson now believes they were illegal.

Maurice M. Milligan, United States district attorney, has charged Murray worked for the machine bosses as a solicitor of highway business.

Wilson said one of the jobs was for 13.29 miles of paving in Barry county on U. S. Highway 37, and the other for 12,001 miles on U. S. Highway 71 in McDonald county.

KANSAS CITY, March 7.—(AP)—The federal government, prosecuting Matthew S. Murray, former state WPA administrator on the charges of income tax evasion, sought today to show an employee-employer relationship between the defendant and T. J. Pendergast and J. J. Pryor, contractor favored by the Pendergast machine.

The government subpoenaed and former members of the Missouri highway commission and department and two bookkeepers of Pendergast and Pryor companies, apparently to refute Murray's claim that he received $49,800 merely as gifts during the years 1934-1938 inclusive, a period in which the indictment charges evasion of tax on $69,691.

It's "Sheriff" May Robson In "Granny Get Your Gun"

Rarely has a movie set been the scene of such hilarity as that of "Granny Get Your Gun", the Warner Brothers film which makes its local debut on the Uptown screen Sunday. The responsible party was the film's venerable star, May Robson, who is always good for a laugh, on or off the screen. And the particular set up on "Granny Get Your Gun" offered opportunity aplenty to whet Miss Robson's whimsy. Her role calls for a hard-bitten old grubstaker whose pet passions are desert rats, shooting pistols at tin cans and mean horseback riding in spite of her seventy-odd years. Miss Robson romped through these experiences as enthralled as a star-struck deb in her first role. And her vixenish sequence when, dolled up in frills and old lace, she tries to impress a jury into thinking her a sweet old lady, caused a round of chuckles. Appearing with Miss Robson, the screen newcomer, Magot Stevenson, a Broadway import, does a fine piece of acting, as do the other seasoned players, Harry Davenport, Hardie Albright, William Davidson and Granville Bates. The original play, by Kenneth Gamet, directed by George Amy, offers the players fine opportunities.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 PINTS A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys remove excess acids and poisonous waste from your blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with astringent and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Falsehoods Gather Weight

No one knows just how these things happen, but every one in a while the most innocent set of facts gets jumbled up and emerges as a national legend without a grain of truth.

Take the case of the Memphis, Tenn., dog pound, for example. When the building was first erected in 1936, with the aid of WPA, the story got around that the place was so luxurious that Memphis' canine population was openly inviting apprehension by the dog-catcher just to share the penthouse comfort of the new pound and to enjoy the shower baths which were supposed to be part of the project.

Memphis tried hard to stop that. But the story, with embellishments, kept popping up. Just the other day, it reached the halls of Congress when a representative referred to southern ladies bringing their poodles in for shower baths at the $50,000 pound.

The facts? First of all the place cost only $19,000 with WPA putting up $13,000 and the city $6,000. And there are no shower baths, except the garden hose used on badly soiled inmates. Since the dog shelter was opened, there has been not a single death from rabies; although, during the three years prior to the opening, six deaths were recorded. The number of Pasteur treatments for rabies, costing $7 each, has declined from 280 in 1935 to 64 last year.

With tears in her civic eyes, Memphis pleads with the nation please to stop the libel. That's not going to be easy. Give a lie a little push, and it grows larger and larger—about as easy to recall as a 10-ton boulder crashing down a mountain side.

The classical example of a falsehood that received wide and official recognition was H. L. Mencken's war-time story of the origin of the bathtub in America. The tale was conjured up in the famous author's mind on a dull day. Scientists did research on the basis of it, wrote scholarly treatises. Plumbers used the story in advertising and speakers accepted it as gospel.

It was not until about three years ago that Mencken chuckled a little and admitted the whole thing was a hoax. The story, however, will probably live on for years.

If you're thinking of starting a fable you'd better consider well before you start whispering.

No Trade With Germany

After six months of war, Germany's overseas trade has been completely cut off. She must depend for her supplies and her export sales almost entirely on trade pacts with Central Europe and Comrad Stalin.

Germany undoubtedly expected that to happen. She could hardly have planned to keep her trade routes open after formation of the blockade she knew the British would throw around her coast. Yet when the war is over and the blockade no longer impedes ships filled with needed supplies, the cargoes still may not come—until Germany can furnish real cash for the deals. And honest money, after a nation has finished a war, is not a bountiful commodity.

It's difficult to imagine what Germany can possibly get out of prolonging the struggle—what any nation can get out of it. Only in the minds of the leaders of aggression can the real answer be found.

The Ideals of Democracy Get Pushed Into the Background Voters Become Watch-Dogs

Racketeering and governmental corruption needn't exist anywhere in the United States. They don't spring up because the citizens want them, but because people don't reject them with enough determination.

The current trend of interest in civic management may be all that is needed to end gangster rule and dishonest city and state management. The "town hall meeting" is coming back. In cities where the large population makes direct democratic rule impractical, the citizens' organizations are sub-divided. In Minneapolis, for example, there are 157 "town hall" groups, all of them affiliated with a central body.

If the renewed interest in watching the wheels of government go around is only a corollary to the presidential elections, however, the relief from corruption will be strictly temporary.

We restrict the loan for powder puffs, silken scanty panties and for cream puffs when we know the Finns need shrapnel, buckshot, barbed wire and all the fiercest implements of hell because they are fighting to stop anti-Christ and the hosts of hell led by Beelzebub.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—The Finnish Minister in Washington received a letter the other day written by three Negroes in a southern jail. It began, "Your Majesty," and voiced the willingness of the three to serve in the army of Finland, if they could get out of jail.

To help the cause in the meantime, they enclosed a quarter, and ended with, "You can write to us in care of the sheriff, and we'll be here."

Mail trucks bring letters like this by the sackful every day to the Finnish Legation. Some are addressed to "The Finnish Government in Washington," and one read, "Finland Government, Care of Uncle Sam, Washington," it contained a dollar bill.

The mail is so heavy that the legation staff has been increased to one of the largest diplomatic staffs in Washington. A year ago it consisted of three persons; now there are more than thirty. Expansion has required renting an additional building to serve as Chancery to the Legation.

Sample of a recent day's contributions: Decorah Chamber of Commerce, Decorah, Iowa, $500; Moving Picture Operators Union, Fort Worth, Texas, $10; resident of San Mateo, Calif., $0.25; Finland Defense Committee, Doylestown, Pa., $1,000; Washington Paint Salesman's club, $25.

These contributions are distinct from the funds being raised by ex-President Hoover's Finnish Relief Fund, Inc., and General O'Ryan's Fighting Funds for Finland. Latest figures indicate these two organizations have raised $2,000,000 and $500,000 respectively. The Hoover fund, as contrasted to the O'Ryan fund, is for the purchase of civilian supplies, but it has lately expressed willingness to transmit contributions for munitions.

Generous, But

Everywhere members of the Finnish Legation go they encounter personal goodwill toward their country.

Minister Procopce took his fountain pen to a shop for repairs. The charge was 25 cents. The shopkeeper declined to accept payment. "Use the money for the cause of Finland," he said. Colonel Per Zilliacus, military attache, called in a physician when his children were taken ill. The doctor presented a bill, and said, "Don't send the check to me; send it to your government."

Despite all these expressions of sympathy, U. S. aid has been less than Sweden's. Total U. S. assistance, including the $30,000,000 credit from the Export-Import Bank, is around $35,000,000. Sweden has given $85,000,000—25 in cash and 70 in materials.

NOTE—The legation has received a tale from home of the boyish valor of Finland's famed composer, Jean Sibelius, who, at the age of 73, rushes out of his home near Helsinki every time Russian bombers appear and tries to bring them down single-handed with his old hunting rifle.

Census "Snooping"

The one-man war which Senator Charles Tobey, New Hampshire Republican, is waging against "snooping" in the census questionnaire is winning no hosannas from the business world.

Inside fact is that the two queries Tobey is griping about—concerning family income in 1939—were incorporated in the questionnaire by Secretary Hopkins at the express request of business leaders, who want to get reliable statistics on local and regional buying power.

The last thing in their minds was to "snoop." They pointed out to Hopkins that the census could be a tremendous help in stimulating recovery by providing business with accurate information on purchasing power, and he agreed to cooperate.

Among the business leaders who urged the inquiries were Dr. Stacy May of the Rockefeller Foundation; Dr. Louis Dublin of Metropolitan Life; David R. Craig, president of the American Retail Federation; General Robert E. Wood, head of Sears, Roebuck and a director of the New York Stock Exchange; and Noel Sargent, secretary of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Trade organizations that backed the income questionnaire were the National Bureau of Economic Research, National Industrial Conference Board, American Home Economics Association, Actuarial Society of America, auto manufacturers, labor unions, publishers and market analysts. In fact, there are few trade groups that did not advocate the questions about which Tobey is trying to raise a hullaballoo.

NOTE—In the Senate cloakrooms, Tobey's crusade is attributed to jealousy of his better known colleague, Senator Styles Bridges, who has won national publicity as a result of his campaign for the GOP presidential nomination.

A committee of J. M. Cannon, J. L. Babcock and P. B. Stratton appointed in the interest of the Missouri and Iowa Southern railroad proposition for a railroad from this city to Miami, met with Col. A. Charles D. Brown, circulator for the Democrat, exchanged his home place of five acres in Arlington Heights to Ralph Blair for the Cravens property at Seventh street and New York avenue.

The Rev. A. A. Boyd was formally installed as pastor of the Central Presbyterian church. Ministers participating in the ceremonies were: Revs. J. S. Van Meter, of Clinton; A. E. Van Orden, of Appleton City, and E. W. Clippinger, of Sedalia.

Just Town Talk

ON VALENTINE Day

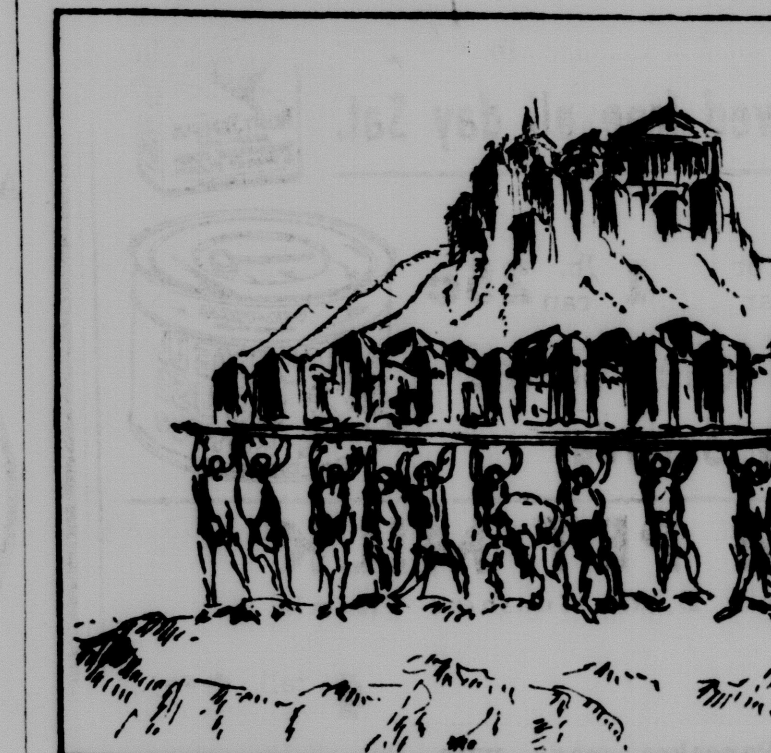

A YOUNG SEDALIA GIRL RECEIVED A BOX OF CANDY FROM HER BOY FRIEND. IT WAS ONE OF THOSE PRETTY RED HEART SHAPED BOXES AND SHE PRIZED IT HIGHLY. THE CANDY WAS VERY PRECIOUS. AND WHEN SHE THOUGHT SOME PIECES WERE MISSING SHE ACCUSED HER MOTHER OF TAKING THEM. BUT SHE HADN'T EVIDENTLY SHE PUT

THE THOUGHT IN HER Mother's HEAD, THOUGH, FOR THE NEXT DAY HER MOTHER, FEELING THAT SHE'D LIKE A PIECE OR TWO OF CANDY, DID GO TO THE DAUGHTER'S Box. SHE TOOK THE TOP OFF AND MUCH TO HER Surprise SAW THERE A NOTE: "AH, AH, MOTHER!" BUT SHE Took THE CANDY JUST THE Same. I THANK YOU.

The Story of Democracy

By Hendrik Willem van Loon
Illustrated by the author

Democracy's Eternal Quest For A Moral Substitute For Money

The noble Democracies of Greece lorded it over hundreds of thousands of slaves.

Chapter Four

First of all, there is the word "Democracy" itself which is one of those expressions that threaten to become all things to men, for the term "a democratic form of government" has been applied to countries which were as far removed from any reasonable ideal of democracy as the Germany of Adolf Hitler or the Russia of Joseph Stalin.

We write about the noble democracies of Greece, forgetting that these city-states were usually ruled by a mere handful of free people who brutally lorded it over hundreds of thousands of slaves who had as much share in the government of the country which they helped to support as do our dogs and cats in the United States of America of today.

Came the Middle Ages and the establishment of a large number of small city-republics like Genoa, Venice, Sienna and Florence in Italy and Novgorod in Russia and Geneva in Switzerland. Indeed, they were all over the place, like "co-operatives" in our modern world.

Because these cities called themselves a res publica or commonwealth or a republic, we have usually drawn the easy conclusion that they must therefore also have been democracies. Nothing is further removed from the truth.

For a democracy, according to Noah Webster, is "a form of government in which the supreme power is retained by the people and is exercised either directly or indirectly through a system of representation and delegated authority, periodically renewed."

But even the cautious Webster hastens to add that "even in the most primitive forms, such as the Athenian democracy, where the governing powers were directly exercised by the assembled people, all women, children and slaves were excluded."

And he might have added that it has been that way ever since and in practically every part of the world where the people had the courage to experiment with that most difficult and perishable form of government which Abraham Lincoln, the great prophet of our own system of democracy, summed up in the words of "a government of the people, by the people and for the people."

Here and there in very small and preponderantly rustic communities, such as the old Iceland, a few of the cantons of Switzerland and in several of our own New England townships, where everybody knew everybody else, this sort of government "of and by and for all the people" was able to maintain itself for a considerable number of years and even for a very considerable number of centuries.

But the moment the essentially rustic elements disappeared and trade and commerce made their entrance, allowing the development of a small group of rich people and a large mass of citizens without any property, there was an end to this ideal state of affairs. For the moment economic inequality enters the house of Democracy by the front door, the expression "equal rights" becomes a meaningless phrase.

Quite frequently the rich, fearing the wrath of the disenfranchised majority, insisted upon maintaining at least an outer semblance of something that might still vaguely be recognized as a democracy.

But that "inner spirit" of pride in a common destiny and a common achievement was apt to wither and to die when the poor man no longer felt that he was a living factor in the political scheme of things. In every other way he knew that he, with his little half-acre of land and his dozen sheep, was no match for his neighbor who owned half a county and who counted his flocks by the tens of thousands.

If driven to desperation, he might take to his trusted sword and defy the power of the wealthy. But if treated fairly decently, he was usually more than willing to let well enough alone and to choose the easier path of compromise and resignation.

For money means power and it will continue to do so until we shall have found a "moral substitute" for this brutal material fact. And the history of democracy is in reality the eternal quest for that "moral substitute."

Fellowship Of Prayer

The Supreme Gift

Thursday, March 7. Give me a blessing; for thou hast given one a south-land; give me also springs of water. Read Judges 1:12-15.

Caleb's daughter's dowry of a south-land was no better than a dust-bowl without water. The springs would be pastures, harvests and vineyards; they were the supreme gift.

For there are gifts which carry everything else with them. The gift of a spring is the gift of all the water which flows out of it; the gift of a field is the bestowal of all its successive harvests. A cup of cold water is life to the thirsty and bread is life to the hungry. But the cup is soon empty and the bread soon eaten. What we need is the spring and the field.

When we give ourselves completely, all we are, possess or can do, go with the gift. The wealth of any cause is the personal self-dedication of those who serve it. Life is never abundantly generous till love has released its power, and love is never perfect till it gives itself.

Prayer: Source of the Upper and Nether Springs of Life, help us to find the causes in whose services our lives are made complete, and having found them, so to give ourselves to them in wisdom and purpose, in dream and desire and in our self-dedication as to find ourselves again entire in peace and power. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Once Altar Boy Is Archbishop

By EARL AYKROID
CHICAGO, March 7.—(P)—Smilingly waving his benediction to massed onlookers, a former Nashville, Tenn., altar boy marched to a solemn procession to Holy Name Cathedral today for enthronement as ruler of the largest Roman Catholic Archdiocese in the United States.

A colorful throng of prelates and clergymen, costumed in liturgical garments, preceded Archbishop Samuel Alphonsus Stritch into the grey gothic portals of the historic cathedral.

Thronged about the church on Chicago's near north side were thousands of dignitaries and common folk. Up front was the city council, Mayor Edward J. Kelly, and others high in the community's civic and political life.

The 52-year-old archbishop, who made a triumphal entry to his See yesterday—coming from Milwaukee—was second from the last in the procession of 1,000 clerics. Behind him was the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, the apostolic administrator to the United States and officiating prelate at the enthronement.

The Archbishop marked each step with his rich gold crozier, the pastoral staff significant of the office that made him shepherd of a flock of 1,400,000 communicants. No other archbishop in the nation has as great a Catholic population.

With his free hand, he saluted the crowds with the sign of the cross, his benediction.

The archbishop and the Most Rev. James A. Griffin, celebrant of the pontifical high mass, wore miters, the peaked caps symbolic of authority.

Manion In Tears Starts To Prison

NEW YORK, March 7.—(P)—With tears in his eyes, Martin T. Manion, former presiding judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, today started on his way to the penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., to begin a two-year sentence for selling justice.

Drink Dow's Milk, Phone 12-F-5.—Adv.

The trip, by automobile with United States Marshal Leo Lowenthal and Joseph Petrina, a deputy, started eighteen minutes after he had walked into the federal court building and to Lowenthal's office, his face cast in its customary scowl.

Seven years ago Manion spoke at the cornerstone laying of the building—a jurist whose opinions were highly respected and whose successful career had been pointed out to aspiring young lawyers, for he had come to the bench when he was only 36.

French Fried Onions

Use Spanish or large Bermuda onions, peel them and cut in slices a little more than a quarter of an inch thick. Separate the slices into rings. Soak them in milk for about an hour, drain, and roll in flour seasoned with salt and pepper. Fry in deep fat at 380 degrees F. or hot enough to brown a cube of bread in one minute. When the onions are a golden brown remove from the fat, drain on soft paper. Sprinkle with salt.

Sweet Potatoes and Apples

Partially cook sweet potatoes in salted water, remove skins and cut in slices. Into a well-greased casserole put a layer of the sweet potatoes, a layer of cooking apples. Sprinkle brown sugar over the apples. Dot with butter and continue the layers until dish is filled. Bake at 350 degrees F. about 30 minutes or until apples are done.

Menu

Breakfast—Orange juice, dry cereal, fried bananas, crisp bacon, toast, coffee, milk.

Luncheon—Cream of chicken soup, hot biscuits, vegetable salad, frosted cup cakes, tea, milk.
Dinner—Pork chops with pan gravy, mashed potatoes, Brussels sprouts, applesauce, cup cakes with hot chocolate sauce, coffee, milk.

handle dough any more than necessary. Roll dough lightly, prick with a fork and put into a 9-inch pie pan. Do not stretch but allow it to relax into pan. Bake in 450 degree oven about 15 minutes.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

EGG prices, being variable, make the headlines more often than most other foods, and this week they outdid themselves by dropping in some grades as much as six to eight cents a dozen. This should mean consistently low egg prices for the coming spring. Cora Anthony, of the A&P Kitchen, recommends that each person should have at least three or four eggs a week and preferably one every day for their excellent nutritional qualities. Butter, too, costs a little less to buy.
Fairly generous supplies of fresh fish are available. Most meats are somewhat higher, smoked pork being the exception to the rule.
String, wax and lima beans, green peppers and tomatoes are still too high for most budgets as the supply from Cuba is limited and Florida crops were killed. However the cabbage family, root vegetables, mushrooms, peas and spinach are all inexpensive.
The fruit situation is practically unchanged.
Three dinners at different price levels follow:

Low Cost Dinner
Cross Rib Pot Roast Mashed Potatoes
Stewed Tomatoes Browned Parsnips

The Easter Parade of Customers starts for Armour dealers with the launching of a nationwide advertising and merchandising campaign on Armour Star Hams for Easter. Striking advertisements in the Democrat-Capital will carry to every housewife the selling story on quality and taste-tantalizing goodness of Armour Star Hams.

All the help that Armour dealers need to follow through on the big Easter drive and "clinch" those sales—may be obtained from Armour salesmen. If a dealer wants to give his store an inviting holiday look, he can have a big dramatic four-color floor display featuring Armour Easter Hams. He can add to his store's festive appearance with bright window streamers and pennants. A real service to offer his customers—more important than ever at this time of year—is a counter card containing fifty folders showing Marie Gifford's menus, recipes and carving instructions.

Dealers who appreciate practical time-saving and money-saving helps before a big holiday rush can get order cards from Armour salesmen to help in their buying. For real follow-through work on the dealer's part Armour provides free electros for newspaper advertising.

Every indication points to a big Easter business this year and Armour dealers are urged to get their full share of it. Every effort these dealers make to tie in with Armour's intensive advertising drive and use all the merchandising helps will pay big profit dividends.

Serial Story

$15 a Week by Louise Holmes

Copyright, 1940. NEA, Inc.

YESTERDAY: Ann learns more about Paul during their first date. He is a college graduate, anxious to succeed. There is no room in life for romance. They agree to be just friends. Two weeks after Ann's arrival in her new home, Florabelle asks her to go on a party.

CHAPTER XIII

ANN hesitated. There was a difference between going on a party and going to a party. When she hesitated, Florabelle said, "And you too, Clara."

"Oh, Florabelle," Clara breathed excitedly. "That's swell—simply swell. Isn't it, Ann?"

"I'd like to go to a party," Ann admitted. "What—what kind of a party is it?"

"Oh," Florabelle continued carelessly, "we'll have dinner somewhere—and dance."

Clara's eyes sparkled. "Will we meet swell fellows?" She had a definite idea of swell fellows. They worked in offices behind big mahogany desks, they spent their evenings in night clubs. She had seen them in the movies.

"The best families in town will be represented," Florabelle assured her with a little grimace.

"Oh, gee," Clara sighed. "What'll I wear?"

"Well, don't try to be dressy. Wear street clothes. The smartest girls in Chicago never dress."

Clara ran to the closet and brought forth an atrocious taffeta frock. It was cerise, trimmed with cream lace. "Will this be all right?" she asked excitedly.

"It'll do," As she left the room, Florabelle said, "You're the important one, Ann. The party is being given in your honor."

"My honor?"

"Sure. Jake Bontel was in the taxi the other night. He saw you and asked me to bring you 'round."

"Will there be a man for Clara?"

Florabelle nodded. "Three men will be there. Clancy Horton—he's mine and don't you forget it for a minute—Jake Bontel and Steve Claybourne. Steve goes with the North Side crowd. Occasionally he likes to meet the other half."

Ann was a little dubious about the affair. She had the feeling that Florabelle was railroaded her into something. On the other hand, she was eager for gaiety. Dinner and dancing—it sounded delightful.

Florabelle took her acceptance for granted. "Just wait till Steve Claybourne sees Clara," she said, laughing lazily.

THERE was a flurry of baths and dressing in the apartment the next evening. Ann wore the new blue dress and little pancake hat. Her hair was like gold, vivid color burned in her cheeks, her eyes were mysteriously dark. Florabelle's gown was black, sleek and plain. At her throat she wore an immense rhinestone clip. A smartly veiled hat partially covered her ash blond head.

Clara was a living demonstration of what a girl should not wear. The cerise dress fought with the shade of her rouge, her flame colored nails fought back. She'd had her hair done at noon and her head had an ice-bound look. Bangle bracelets jingled from her wrists, a bib necklace of raw gold covered her chest.

"Aren't you going to wear any jewelry?" she asked Ann.

"I haven't anything nice."

"Gee, I wish I'd known it. They have swell stuff at the store."

Ann looked at Clara's decorations and was not in the least envious. They found a cab waiting at the curb and Ann quietly enjoyed the unaccustomed luxury.

At last they stopped before an apartment hotel on Sheridan drive. Florabelle gracefully led the way to an elevator and they shot upward, Ann's doubts increasing with every floor.

"Why should we go to Mr. Horton's apartment?" she asked. "Why don't we meet them where we are to have dinner?"

Florabelle lost patience. "Look," she said firmly. "Are you planning to have a good time or are you going to put on an act at every turn? Who is throwing this party, anyway?"

Ann felt properly squelched. "I just wondered," she said lamely.

"Well, stop wondering. Take things as they come. I go to parties like this about five times a week and I'm none the worse for them."

SHE knocked on a closed door and it swung open. A large, beefy man with several chins and a bulging waistline beamed out at them.

"Three little gifts from heaven," he proclaimed loudly.

"This is Clancy," Florabelle said. "Ann and Clara."

"Howdy, Ann and Clara. Come in. The two male earth beings behind me are Jake and Steve. Step up, boys, and do your manners."

Ann knew right then that her doubts had been well founded. She glanced about the apartment. No one lived there, that was obvious. It had merely been taken for the evening's entertainment. A kitchen, brilliantly lighted, opened off the main room. From where Ann stood, she could see down a hall from which opened bedrooms and bath.

Jake took her hand. "It's plain that you need a little drink," he said thickly. "Come with your old pal, Jake." He led her to a console table which had been turned into a bar. It was loaded with bottles and glasses.

Ann said, "I thought we were going out to dinner." Anything to get away.

"That's the surprise," he told her with sly heaviness. "We're having dinner right here. You like that, beautiful?"

Florabelle had removed her fur and hat. With a glass in her hand, she sat on the arm of a chair, looking extremely decorative. Clara, aided by Steve, was getting out of her wraps. She was laughing and talking inanely. Ann looked at Steve. He was younger than the other men, younger and nicer.

Jake had gone behind the improvised bar. "What'll it be, angel?"

Ann was at a loss. Evidently this was what was meant by "being on a party." She had never tasted intoxicating liquor, her father had seen to that. Inexperienced as she was, she knew that it was up to her to bluff. She couldn't "put on an act" as Florabelle had said.

"Mix up something you think I'll like," she said indifferently.

BY this time Clara was sipping a long drink. She was doing her best to be casual about it, imitating Florabelle's every move. While Jake hilariously mixed the drinks Steve crossed the room to Ann. He was an exceptionally good-looking young man, well groomed and nice mannered. He was a little less intoxicated than his two friends.

"I've never had the pleasure of meeting you," he said.

"Perhaps you've never gone slumming in the right places," she returned coolly. Ann was angry, more angry at herself than at the three men.

Why had she come? Why had she let herself in for something she might not be able to handle? What was the fun in a gathering like this? Where was the excuse for it?

"Pert little devil, aren't you?" Steve remarked.

"I can hold my own in any crowd."

"Do I detect gravel in that remark?"

"I put some in. Maybe you are clever enough to detect it."

Jake came from behind the bar, a stemmed glass in his hand. "Here you are, my sweet."

"Thank you," She took the glass. What was she to do with it? Why—oh, why had she come?

Doctors Find Gallstones Afflict From 5 to 20 Per Cent Of Population

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Doctors who perform post-mortem examinations say that the adult population of the United States have gallstones in from 5 to 20 per cent of cases. One expert, who examined about 10,000 bodies, found 8.4 per cent of them with gallstones. Many observers, however, have found 20 per cent, and some have even found 35 per cent.

A pathologist in a large city reported that 50 per cent of people over 60 have gallstones.

All authorities agree that women are more likely to have gallstones than are men. Although cases do occur in children, it is rare to find gallstones in people under 20 years of age.

The number of gallstones that can lodge in the gallbladder is enormous. If the stones are tiny, they may number in the thousands.

One investigator found 14,000. Sometimes single stones will develop and increase in size as additional layers are deposited. A single stone weighing as much as a quarter of a pound, has been found.

Nobody knows exactly how long it takes gallstones to form. They have been known to develop in less than a week. Since gallstones are so prevalent, there is naturally much discussion among doctors as to whether or not they should always be removed when their presence is determined. The place in the gallbladder where the gallstones form is of importance in relationship to the symptoms. In from 10 to 15 per cent of cases, the gallstones move down into the ducts or tubes which carry the bile. If they block these tubes, the result is swelling, pain, irritation and all the symptoms included under biliary colic.

When gallstone colic occurs, there is just one thing to do—get a doctor as soon as possible. He can relieve the pain by various technique. He must be careful about injecting too much narcotics, however, because the sudden passing of the gallstone may relieve the pain and give the patient more trouble from the narcotic than danger from the gallstone.

One U. S. patent aims to improve on the busy bee by providing for the processing of natural honey into a hard, solid, non-sticky mass at ordinary temperatures.

Almost 40 per cent of Holland would be inundated every 24 hours were it not for its dike system.

There are about 400 deer in Richmond Park, London. Badgers, fox, hares and rabbits, and more than 100 species of birds also make their homes here.

Nation Wide Cage Tourney In Kansas City

Twenty Teams From Coast To Coast In From Sixteen States

(By American Press Syndicate)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 7.—A real nation-wide championship basketball tournament!

That is the definite conclusion of basketball experts after sizing up the field of contestants already entered for the third annual National Intercollegiate Basketball Championship Tournament to be staged in the great Municipal Auditorium here, the week beginning next Monday, March 11.

Certainly the tournament will be a tournament of champions, for every one of the thirty-two teams qualified and certified will be a champion—winner of a conference championship. With the United States divided into thirty-two districts and only champions of each district eligible for play, the field is bound to be an outstanding one. Undoubtedly every district will not send a representative team but with any vacancies the ranks will be filled by permitting large areas strong in the court game and boasting of more than one conference, to enter two teams. This will be true for the state and district of Texas and Missouri and probably Kansas.

Seventy teams already have qualified and have been certified by district chairmen. In many other areas, play-offs and tournaments are proving necessary this week. These winners probably will not be entered until Friday. The twenty entered represent sixteen states from the far East, the Pacific Coast, the extreme North, and the deep South and the Midwest.

They are: San Diego State, of San Diego, Calif., runner-up last year and rated this year as one of the four strongest teams on the West Coast; Pacific University, of Forest Grove, Ore., winner of its conference and also the play-off tournament in Portland, Ore., winner of its conference and also the play-off tournament in Portland, Ore.; Peru State Teachers College, Peru, Neb.; Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill.; West Texas State, Canyon, Tex., winner of the El Paso tournament and "the tallest team in the world"; East Texas State Teachers College, Commerce, Tex.; Northern State Teachers College, Aberdeen, S. D., winner of the play-off tournament for Southern Dakota; Southeastern Oklahoma State; Durant, Okla.; Louisiana State Normal, Natchitoches, La.; Mississippi Delta, Cleveland, Miss.; Glenville State College, Glenville, W. Va.; Appalachian State College, Boone, N. C.; Holbrook College, Manchester, O.; Maryville, Mo., Teachers; and Tarkio, Mo. College; Pittsburg State Teachers College, Pittsburg, Kas., and Southwestern College, Winfield, Kas., defending champions.

Play will get under way Monday noon, with four games each afternoon and night for the first three days. Thursday night brings the four quarter-final games, Friday night the two semi-finals and Saturday night the finals and consolation game for third and fourth place.

Johnny Layton Sedalia Champ Seeks Title

'Capitol Of The World' Representative Says He's Ready For Play

CHICAGO, March 7.—(P)—"Chunky Johnny Layton, whose red face and bushy hair are almost as much a part of the game as the angles themselves, squinted down a cue today and saw a 13th championship coming to him in the world's three cushion billiards tournament opening here next Monday.

Johnny, who came out of Sedalia, Mo., years ago to make the ivories do tricks in the difficult angle game, is not one bit dismayed about the competition. He and 10 other of the world's greatest stars, will start a program of 110 games, with each player meeting twice in a grind extending through April 4.

"I've been playing exceptionally well," he said, "and figure that only three other players are going to give me trouble—Jay Bozeman, Willie Hoppe and Welker Cochran. If those balls start rolling for me, I'll be in the bag."

The betting odds, however, place him no better than fourth in a field which experts say will be the fastest ever to compete for the three-rail title. Cochran, the San Francisco star, who won the championship in 1936, is held at 3-1, with the famous Hoppe, of New York, and Young Bozeman, who registers out of Vallejo, Calif., each at 4-1 to win.

Other odds: Joe Chamaco, Mexico City, and Allen Hall, Chicago, 6-1; Layton, 8-1; Jake Schaefer of Cleveland 10-1 and Arthur Thurnblad, Kenosha, Wis., Tiff Denton, Kansas City, Otto Reisel, Philadelphia, and Arthur Rubin, New York at from 15 to 20 to 1.

Prize money will total $20,000, with the top winner getting about 18 per cent.

In the game Wednesday night Guy Roberts to the top of the league standing in both high ten and high thirty. His ten frame score was 255 and his thirty frame total was 648. Roberts rolls for the Waldman team and got "hot" and stayed "hot."

Jack Haley, K. C. Glover, Eliminated

Is Named On Team From Chicago In Spite Of Defeat

CHICAGO, March 7.—(P)—The Chicago Golden Gloves tournament from which Joe Louis skyrocketed to the world's championship, failed to produce another outstanding heavyweight in the championship finals last night.

A standing room crowd of 21,000 in the Chicago stadium watched the fiercely fought semi-final and final contests of the survivors of 20,000 amateurs from 23-midwestern and southwestern states.

The heavyweight honors went to Cornelius Young, Chicago, winner of the 160 pound title two years ago. He defeated William Cowan, of Elgin, Ill., coming from behind in the last and third round to triumph. He punched Cowan all over the ring in the last session.

James Richie, a Negro hod carrier from St. Louis, captured the light heavyweight title by defeating Ragon Kinney, Fort Smith, Ark., college student, on a technical knockout in the second round. The bout was stopped because of a cut over Kinney's left eye.

One other bout in the semi-final and final rounds failed to go the limit. Tony Ancona, Detroit, winner of the 1939 title in the 126 pound class, captured the light-weight honors by stopping Robert Simmons, Gary, Ind., in the third round, after twice flooring the Gary Negro in the second.

Perhaps the best boxer developed in this year's tournament, was Joe Maxin of Cleveland, who outpointed Otto Stowe, a Negro high school student of Springfield, Ill., to win the middleweight honors.

Their bout was a thriller that kept the spectators howling.

Chicago produced three 1940 champions, while no other city had more than one.

The welterweight championship was awarded to Savor Canadeo, Chicago, who outscored Morris Corona, Port Arthur, Texas. Corona, however, was awarded the Barney Ross sportsmanship trophy, presented annually in the welterweight division by the former world's 147 pound champion, who started to ring fame as a Golden Glover.

Other title winners were Harold Dade, Chicago, 112 pounds; Richard Menchaca, Fort Worth, Tex., 118 pounds, and Ray Lewis, Muncie, Ind., 126 pounds.

Jack Haley, lone survivor of the Kansas City district team battled his way to the semi-finals, but a knockdown in the first round offered the edge to Jimmy Joyce, Negro of Gary, Indiana, in the semi-final bout.

However his ring appearance throughout the Chicago tournament was such the Tribune Golden Glove officials decided to name him on the sixteen man team to fight in Madison Square Garden in New York on March 18.

Bob Feller Is Good Says Vitt

PORT MEYERS, Fla., March 7.—(P)—Oscar Vitt, the old Detroit infielder, isn't yet dead certain that Bob Feller is destined to be baseball's greatest pitcher, but Oscar has his suspicions.

The Cleveland pilot's blue eyes light up when the subject swings around to the big boy from the corn country.

"Bob won 24 games last year and lost 9," he said, impressively, "I think I had to pull him from only three games. If he gets a little more control of his curve ball nobody will beat him. He'll be the greatest we ever saw."

"Some days now he is just as fast as Johnson ever was, and he has that curve that Johnson didn't have. If he had Derringer's control they would be lucky to get one hit a game off the kid. But he's putting that ball where he wants it better all the time, and he's only 21 now. Honest, I hate to say how great a pitcher he's liable to be."

'Holdout' Medwick Planning Fireside Sit-Out at Home

Cardinals' Player Leaves Camp When Rickey Fails To Meet Over Terms

ST. LOUIS, March 7.—(P)—Joe Medwick, leader of the nation's holdout division, flew home from training camp Wednesday, a disgruntled, dissatisfied ball player, but certain the St. Louis Cardinals would not let his $200,000 talents remain idle.

In a huff because Branch Rickey, vice-president of the Cardinals, had failed to meet him yesterday to discuss salary terms, the slugging outfielder left St. Petersburg, Fla., where the team is training, and came to St. Louis by airplane.

A die-hard holdout, he said he intended to remain here at his home and carry on a fireside sit-out until the club officials came to him with a suitable contract for the coming season.

Hot-Tempered Player
The hot-tempered player, who has had many altercations on the field, said he was in good shape and ready to play, but he saw no reason for remaining at St. Petersburg while unsigned. He has never hit under .300 during his major league career.

"I want to play ball," he declared, "but I don't think the Cardinals have treated me fairly." Medwick would not disclose the details of his salary squabble with the club, but it was understood he was asking for $200,000, which would restore the $2,000 cut he took last year when he signed for $18,000 after a lengthy holdout.

Player Isn't Worried
The outfielder, voted the National league's most valuable player in 1937, when he won the batting championship, said he wasn't worried about the possibility he would be out of the game this season.

"They're not going to let $200,000 lie around idle, are they?" he asked.

There have been reports the Brooklyn Dodgers have offered $200,000 for Medwick.

In St. Petersburg, Sam Breacon, president of the Cardinals, said he had offered to confer with Medwick at noon today and expressed surprise the outfielder had gone home. He said there was no one in St. Louis to negotiate with Medwick, since Rickey was on his way to Florida.
